List Of Candidates For Town Offices Has Been Completed

The Republican caucus having been held at the Town Hall on the 14th to nominate its candidates for the various town offices, and the time having expired on the 21st and 22nd for withdrawing and the filing of nominations, the list has been completed, and the ballots are being prepared for the election on the annual town meeting day, next Monday. The specimen ballot has already been posted and the list of candidates are as follows:

For Town Clerk, 1 year, Josephine S. Haskell.

For Town Treasurer, 1 year, Charles F. Slat.

For Selectmen, 1 year, George W. Carr, F. Myron Dunnell, Fred A. Holton.

For Assessor, 3 years, Ernest A. Parker.

For Moderator, 1 year, William F. Hoehn.

For School Committee, 3 years, Dorothy L. Miller.

For Cemetery Commissioner, 3 years, Charles C. Morgan.

For Library Trustees, 3 years, Robert B. Jack, C. Ina Merriman.

For Tree Warden, 1 year, Dean W. Williams.

For Tax Collector, 1 year, Charles F. Slat.

For Constables, 1 year, Harry M. Haskell, Herman A. Miner, Martin E. Vorce.

All candidates are Republican Caucus nominations and all are candidates for re-election, except Carr and Dunnell for Selectmen, Jack for Library Trustee, and Hammond for Constable.

First Aid Classes Being Formed Again

A third Standard Red Cross First Aid class has been organized and 38 have enrolled for the course. The class meets every Wednesday evening in the Town Hall from 8 to 10 o'clock. If a sufficient number of people, who are unable to attend the Wednesday meetings, are interested in joining a class, another Standard course will be given on Monday evenings, beginning February 9 or 16. Those interested in joining this class should communicate with Miss Hazel Schooley as soon as possible.

Those first aiders who hold advance certificates are eligible to attend the instructors' course which will be held in Greenfield beginning March 2. Raymond Amiro of Washington, D. C., will conduct the class.

Approximately 40 girls at Northfield Seminary have recently completed the Standard and Junior courses given by Mrs. Stuart Cumming and Miss Florence Tyler of Greenfield.

Harry W. Doremus Dies

Harry W. Doremus, husband of Sarah M. Doremus and father of Dorothy and Robert Doremus and Jean Claire Linscott, service Friday, (Jan. 16) 8 p. m., at Riverside Church, 490 Riverside Drive. This was the brief obituary notice in the New York Times which caught the attention of Northfield friends, who hastened to extend sympathy to the family. Mr. Doremus was perhaps one of the best known of our summer residents, and he was the owner of considerable property on the Ridge. For over 30 years he had spent much of his time in vacation periods, at his house, for rest and recreation from his advertising work in New York city, which was his permanent home. For several months he had been in ill health and had gone to the New York hospital for medical attention. He was one of the organizers of Doremus and Co., well known advertising agents, and had been active in the work of the Y. M. C. A. He died Wednesday night, January 14, and was 76 years old.

Mr. Doremus was born in Brooklyn and attended the State Normal School at Genesee, N. Y. For a time he was manager of the Jackson Health Resort at Danville, N. Y., and also was a teacher of advertising methods, a writer and authority on such matters.

Mr. Doremus' first wife, Mrs. Ella Cole Doremus, died in 1929, and he later married Sarah MacLeod.

Surviving besides Mrs. Sarah MacLeod Doremus are three children by his first wife, a son, Robert Doremus of Detroit; Miss Dorothy Doremus of Milford, Conn., and Mrs. Orrin Linscott of Orr Island, Maine.

Founders Day Plans At Seminary, Hermon Observed on Thursday

Next Thursday, Feb. 5, marks the 105th anniversary of the birth of Dwight L. Moody, evangelist and educator. The preliminary plans for the celebration of this traditional holiday, Founder's Day, at the Northfield Schools have already been completed.

D. L. Moody, in characteristic pose

A highlight of the days program will be the commemorative services held at both Mount Hermon Memorial Chapel and Russell Sage Chapel. This year the Rev. Carl Heath Kopf of the Mount Hermon Church in Boston will be the speakers. Mr. Kopf is well known at both schools as a frequent visitor and one of the General Conference leaders.

His church is of special significance in the celebration of Founder's Day because it was the first church D. L. Moody joined.

Anticipating a fresh snow fall, the boys at Mount Hermon plan to hold their Seventh Winter Sports Carnival. Skiing events include cross country, jumping, slalom, obstacle races, and an innovation at the carnival, a skijoring competition. Following a festive dinner in West Hall the boys will adjourn to Camp Hall at 8:15 to witness added skiing thrills in the form of "They Met on Skis," a moving picture filmed against the snowy mountain backgrounds of the Swiss and French Alps.

Festivities at the Seminary include chapel services at 11 a. m., followed by a ski picnic and the traditional Founder's Day sleigh-ride in the afternoon. A number of guests have been invited to share the holiday dinner in the various dormitories, and in the evening there will be movies in Silverthorne Hall.

If weather conditions permit, the Northfield Seminary Winter Carnival will be held on Saturday, February 7.

Plans In Abeyance For Jordan Garage

Although the insurance on the loss by fire of the Jordan Motor Sales and garage on the Hinsdale road has been adjusted, Paul G. Jordan has made no announcement of his plans for the future. Immediately following the fire of Saturday the 17th which completely destroyed the property, a small building was brought to the premises, to be used as an office building, as he continues the business of selling used cars, many of which were in storage elsewhere. The erection of a new building presents quite a problem at present owing to the war situation, and it seems almost impossible to secure the needed tools and machinery. The premises will be cleared up at once and the metals assort and sold. The total fire loss was $30,000.

Auto Speed Fixed At 40 On Our Roads

To travel over 40 miles an hour on the highways about Northfield will lead a motorist into trouble, for Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank Goodwin has imposed drastic restriction of speed throughout the state. He says "every motorist going over 40 miles an hour will have his license suspended if he has any previous complaint on record, and any driver clocked at 50 miles an hour will have his license taken away regardless of his previous record." Warnings have been given through the newspapers and motorists should heed them.

We Were In Error

In the account of the garage fire of E. S. Frary on Highland avenue as published in last week's Press, we have made an error by stating that "the garage was fully insured." The garage was not insured. We regret the error.

Trustees Winter Session Decides Important Matter Meeting In New York

The Trustees of the Northfield Schools at their winter meeting in New York on Friday, of last week, adopted a plan making possible an increased schedule of salaries and wages for school employees after July 1. The source of funds to make this plan effective will be a $25 increase in the annual tuition rate, making the fee for the next school year $450.

The details of the plan have not been completed, but it is understood that the increases will be distributed chiefly to those employees most affected by higher living costs.

This plan entails a minimum of hardship for students, since it provides an increase in scholarship aid. The new rate still leaves Northfield with by far the lowest tuition in the secondary school field.

Reports were submitted by President William E. Park, Miss Mira B. Wilson, Headmaster David E. Porter, and the Finance Committee. Two changes in the membership of the Board were approved, the resignation of Dr. Augustus Thorndike and the election of Miss Helen Livingstone, formerly an alumna trustee, as a permanent member of the Board.

Dr. Thorndike has been called into active service by the Chief Surgeon of the U. S. Army and has already sailed for overseas service as assistant chief surgeon of the Harvard Base Hospital No. 1. He holds the rank of Major. He was formerly deputy director of the Medical Division of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety.

Miss Livingstone is a pioneer in the field of vocational education for girls and women and is considered one of the five outstanding American experts in this subject. She is now a member of industrial teachers training. She graduated from Northfield Seminary in 1900.

Gave Library Books

To Dickinson Shelves

Friends in town have recently generously given some good books as gifts to Dickinson Library and they have been added to the shelves and are ready for circulation. Here is a list:

Hill of doves by Stuart Coote. Reviewed everywhere as the author's best novel.

America's last king, by Manfred S. Guttmacher. A portrait of George III, from a new angle.

Under the sea wind, by Rachel L. Carson. This was written out of an enthusiastic love of the ocean and the life therein. Has a glossary identifying and describing more than 100 animals and plants of the sea.

Inside Latin America, by John Gunther. One that many readers have been waiting for.

Young man of "Caracas, by Thomas R. Ybarra. Entertaining description of life in diplomatic and army circles in South America, by one who has been described as "half Caraqueño and half Plymouth Quenno."

The woman who rose again, by Gleb Botkin. The author of "The Romanovs" tells the story of the Princess Anastasia.

The young Mrs. Meigs, by Elizabeth Corbett. The early married life of the woman who at 80 "didn't mind having one foot in the grave as long as the other could be under a bridge table!"

Re-making of an American, by Elizabeth Banks. A chatty account of the experiences and impressions of an American living in England during the war of 1914-18, and after her return to America in 1926.

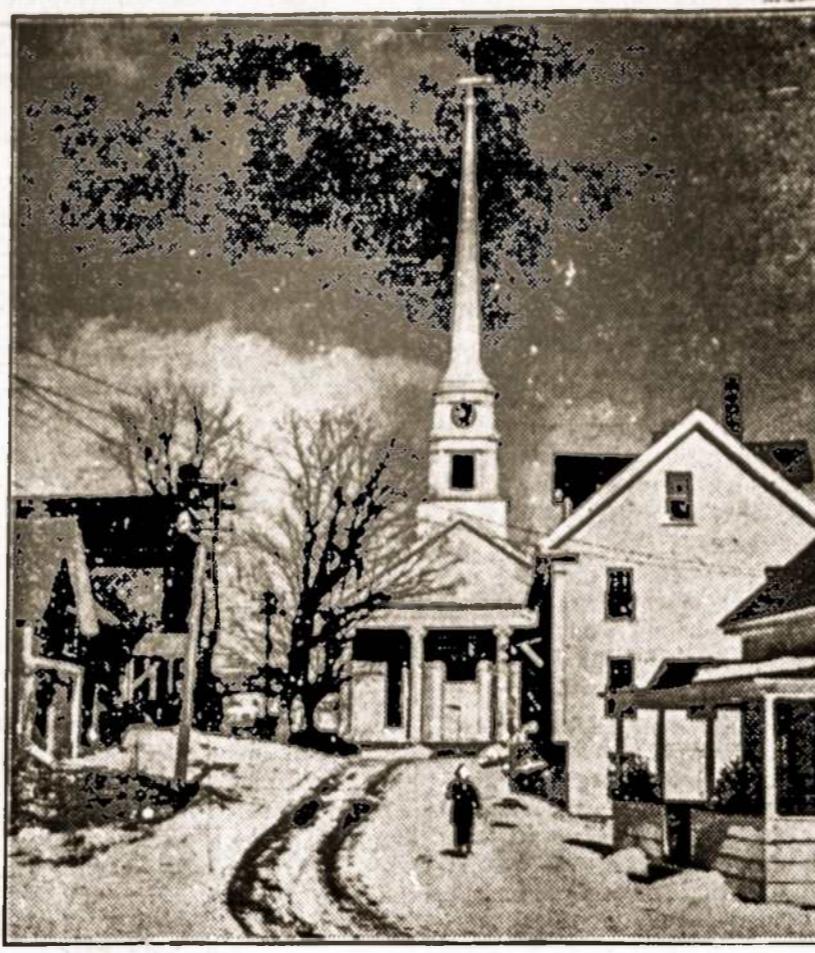

French Book One, by Ina B. Smith and Dorothy P. Roberts.

Dithers and jitters, by Cornell Otis Skinner. This can make you forget the war for an hour or two while having a good laugh. The Theatre Guild Anthology. Contains several plays that have not been in the library previously.

Complete Public Addresses and papers of President Roosevelt through 1940.

Will Visit Chicago

Arthur P. Fitt will leave town on Monday for Chicago, where he will be a guest at the convention and conference of the Moody Bible Institute and the Moody Church for the week. Both of these institutions were founded by Dwight L. Moody and at one time Mr. Fitt was actively connected with them. During his absence, Mr. Fitt's office in the Bookstore building will be open daily from 10 to 11 a. m. and phone calls will be answered at any time.

The church in the average New England community always plays a prominent part in the conception of artist, painter or photographer. And well it might, for anyone familiar with the New England scene, knows fully that its people have through the years, always surrounded themselves with its influences and that they have been loyal to its precepts.

Christian Endeavor To Conduct Service

Sunday, February 1, is the climax of Christian Endeavor week in Franklin county. The members of the local Christian Endeavor Society will conduct the regular morning service in the Congregational Church at 11 o'clock. Harold Bigelow, vice president of the society, will preside. TOWN TOPICS

Mrs. George W. Carr is hostess to the Evening Auxiliary at her home on Winchester road this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The program is in charge of Miss Alice Mundee.

Sufficient filling and grading has been done at the bridge on the state highway at the Congregational Church so that motorists were permitted to pass over it on Monday afternoon.

The Grange is holding a series of dances at the Grange Hall every Thursday evening.

John Mroczek of Maple street, who is manager of the Economy Auto Store in Brattleboro, is in New York this week attending the auto accessories show.

Walter Harding, former principal of local school, is spending a few days with Gene Cullum and family. He is awaiting action of the selective service board.

Don Booth, formerly of the Christian Science Monitor, is working on the staff of the Youth Hostel. He plans to take the Training Course in July and August.

Mrs. David Elkinton has gone to New Haven for the second time for additional dental work as a result of the accident at Christmastime.

A class of Seminary students will attend the town meeting on Monday to study methods and observe a New England town meeting.

Northfield Grange will neighbor with Montague Grange next Friday.

Edward Tie of Northfield is with the U. S. Army in Hawaii. His brother, Cassie, is enrolled in the Canadian forces.

Carroll Miller of this town attended a meeting of the County Bee Keepers Association at the Court House in Greenfield, Monday evening. He is president of the association.

CALL YOUR DOCTOR FOR ILLS AND ACHEs

"Don't try to be your own doctor," warns Dr. Francis P. Denny, Brookline Health Officer, in the second of a series of articles issued by the Health Committee of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety.

He says: "One of the greatest health abuses is self-medication, taking drugs for real or supposed ills without the advice of a physician. The American people waste hundreds of millions of dollars on medicine which in most cases are of no benefit to them, and in some are harmful."

"Most persons feel that they are competent to use drugs to regulate their own bowels, and they spend fifty million dollars a year in this country for laxatives. Very few persons need to take laxatives regularly as many do. The reason they have to do it is that they have acquired the cathartic habit. It is just like any other drug habit."

"Everyone should realize that it is a serious thing to start taking laxatives regularly," says Dr. Denny. Before entering on such a course it is far better to consult a physician and see if he cannot correct the trouble by changes in the diet, by special exercises, or by the temporary use of drugs which are not habit-forming.

"There are occasions when the taking of a laxative may have very serious and even fatal results; and that is when there is abdominal pain. There is always the possibility that it may be due to appendicitis. Laxatives often cause the rupture of the appendix and the spreading of a fatal peritonitis. If a stomach ache lasts more than two or three hours call the doctor."

"Next to cathartics probably more people take drugs to relieve headache than for any other cause. Some of the headache remedies are quite depressing to the heart when taken in large amounts or over long periods of time. Fortunately aspirin is relatively safe to take, although there are objections to its continual use."

"Headache is a symptom, a danger signal, that there is trouble in some part of the body. Don't shut off the signal without learning why it was flashed. To relieve the headache with drugs is merely to shut off the signal. The cause of the trouble is still there. The sensible thing to do is to see the doctor and let him find and correct the cause."

"The symptoms of many serious diseases, on the early recognition of which much depends, are very slight at the outset and indefinite. The person may feel just a little below par, or he may tire easily, have a poor appetite, lose weight without obvious cause, or become short of breath on slight exertion. These symptoms should invariably mean the prompt calling of a physician."

"Unfortunately many persons decide that what they need is a tonic, and after looking over the druggist's supply of patent medicines they find a bottle whose label states that it will cure symptoms just like their own. Now it is very unlikely that the medicine they take will do them any harm — Uncle Sam sees to that—but the tragedy is that precious time may have been lost in starting the proper treatment of a serious disease."

"There is an old maxim, which expresses very concisely a truth which I have been trying to point out. It reads:

"He who has himself as a doctor has a fool as a patient."

EDITORIAL

"Wars still may rage and lands be ravaged yet; Still may the nations stumble and forget; Keep faith, O heart, and trust the things to be, For all mankind shall yet be one, a people free."

STILL GOES AHEAD

For many years, the electric power and light industry has been subject to unnecessary political attack. It has been the object of destructive laws, such as the Holding Company Act, which have placed tremendous obstacles in the way of its expansion and progress. It has been subjected to tax-subsidized competition by government systems backed by the resources of the public treasury. It has been vilified and denounced on every occasion by a group of politicians whose prime objective is the complete socialization of all power resources in this country.

Under those circumstances, it might have been expected that the private industry would go backward. It would have been only natural for its management to become steadily more discouraged, and more dubious as to the future. Yet, as newly released figures show, that has not happened. The industry, fully conscious of its vast responsibility to the people, has pressed ahead.

ESSAYS GOOD

Not to have heard the essays read of the high school pupils in the recent W. C. T. U. contest, was a privilege missed, but to be able to read them now is the best substitute is their consideration. The participants and writers were members of the English class of the high school and the manner in which the subject "My town and its citizens" was handled, shows much thought given in the research and an intelligent conclusion reached in interpretation. The papers have all been read by the Editor who expresses his opinion that the essays are a real credit to their sponsors, reflecting much honor on the young people, a credit to their school and teacher.

Know Massachusetts
by State Planning Board

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . Total assessed valuation of real estate and personal property in Massachusetts in 1941 was $6,121,030,829. The total tax assessment was $220,387,337, making an average tax load of $35.87 per thousand dollars of value . . . At this time of high industrial activity, domestic or household use of electric current in Massachusetts amounts to less than 20 per cent of the States total consumption . . . The Town of Winthrop, early known as Puffin Point, had as its first booster, Captain John Smith, who in 1614 mapped its shores and described it as "the paradise of all those parts" . . . It is estimated that Massachusetts farmers in 1941 received $31,123,000 for crops, $44,486,000 for livestock and $619,000 in government payments . . . The five State prisons and reformatories and the 17 county jails in Massachusetts last year had a total daily average of 8,218 prisoners and a total net cost of $3,766,441, an average annual cost of $458 per prisoner . . . In one Massachusetts plant working on defense orders enough aluminum is being saved every month from machine shop left-overs alone to build 10 two-engine army bombing planes . . . There are approximately 300 miles of established commercial air routes within the borders of the Commonwealth and a total of 44 approved airports . . . The Town of North Reading has recently adopted zoning bylaws, and the Town of Coopersett, Foxborough, Ludlow, Methuen, Norwell and Topsfield will present proposed zoning bylaws at their town meetings during the next two months.

OPPORTUNITY

Master of human destinies am I; Fame, love, and fortune on my footsteps wait, Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate Deserts and seas remote, and passing by Hovel and mart and palace, soon or late I knock unbidden once at every gate; If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise before I turn away. It is the hour of fate. And they who follow me reach every state Mortals desire, and conquer every foe Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate, Condemned to failure, penury, and woe, Seek me in vain and uselessly implore, I answer not and I return no more.

DR. C. V. THOMAS

CLEVELAND—"The way that colleges today can best help win the war is to develop the skills needed in the production of war materials," declared Dr. C. V. Thomas, president of Fenn College, yesterday.

"Likewise, colleges must develop skills and leadership which will be of value to our armed services," he added.

In accordance with its president's words, Fenn College turned this week to a streamlined war program. Instead of the previous five-year course, Fenn adopted a three-year and eight-month program that can be completed in two years and ten weeks with no reduction in hours of instruction if no cooperative work is done.

Students who attend Fenn alternate between school terms and work in industry and business. Over 75% of Fenn's co-ops are now working in defense industries—producing for war while attending college.

Dr. Thomas stated that to expedite the training program, Fenn would start new terms on February 2 and June 28, this year.

This acceleration in program was accomplished by eliminating all vacation periods except one week at Christmas and by eliminating examination weeks and registration days.

Conservation of Clothing

With many kinds of clothing and textiles becoming limited because of the nation's war program, people should take good care of all their clothes, says Mrs. Esther C. Page, extension clothing specialist, at Massachusetts State College.

First step in taking care of clothing intelligently is knowing what the fabric is made of, for methods of cleaning, pressing, removing spots, and storing vary according to the fibers in a garment.

It will help also in taking intelligent care of clothing if you know whether the color in a material is fast to light and to washing, whether and how much the garment is likely to shrink, and what special finishes, if any, have been applied to the material. Find out about these points when you buy—from labels, clerks, and store buyers.

The right way to wash wool is to use warm, soft water, and mild soap. Squeeze suds through cloth—don't rub. Dry in warm place, but not near a fire or in direct sunlight. Stretch knit garments into shape while they are damp and lay them out flat to dry.

Rough handling while it is wet, harsh soap, sudden extremes of temperature in washing water or drying cause a wool garment to become boardy. The little scales on the surface of the wool fibers lock into each other. This locking or "felting" results in shrinking about which you can do practically nothing. For if you try to stretch the garment back into shape, the fibers break into short pieces, soon work out, and weak in the cloth.

For washable rayons, use heavy luke-warm suds of neutral soaps. Do not rub, but handle them with particular care while they are wet. Rinse in water the same temperature of the wash water. Iron with a moderately warm iron. For acetate rayons, keep the temperature even lower. It's a good idea to try the iron first on the back part of a hem or a seam to make sure it's not so hot it will melt the rayon.

The sensible way to clean most cottons is to wash them. Colored cottons need to be colorfast both to washing and to light if they are to be satisfactory for long. And they should not shrink more than two per cent in order to retain the fit of the garment after washing. Look for definite facts about both points when you buy.

Public Forum

To the Editor:

If foresight was as good as hindsight, the junction of Moody street with Main street might have been planned differently. As it is today, it is more dangerous and inconvenient than it was before. Why did not the highway department make it a right-angle intersection at Pine street, etc., instead of an old-fashioned forked intersection.

Stand in front of the Bookstore building and you will see that if the south line of the roadway had been kept straight to Main street it would not have come within several feet of the big maple tree.

This tree, as it is at present, is a presumptive menace. The south fork of the road is more dangerous than before. Even assuming that one-way traffic will be enforced, the road has been lowered two to three feet and so automobile drivers coming north cannot see over the bank at the bend. There is much pedestrian traffic there: 40 girls living across the street, not to add other people crossing Main street on foot.

From where the Moody street sidewalk ends to the west side of Main street where the new path will begin measures many paces, nearly twice as long as before when there was an island around the maple tree. Pedestrians stand a good chance of being run down by automobiles coming north and east.

If one-way traffic is enforced around the maple tree, traffic from the north desiring to go east on Moody street will have an awkward turn to negotiate.

If the State does not rectify the blunder by rebuilding a rectangular intersection, it might pay the town to close the south fork and use the northerly side of the rect north fork before somebody gets killed. Can anything be done about it at the annual meeting?

The Moody street intersection with the main highway presents a dangerous proposition.

An Observing Citizen.
